"PALO DURO IS MINIATURE OF GRAND CANYON"

—DR. V. E. MONNETT

O. U. GEOLOGY DEAN THINKS IT A PARK SITE.

Says Unable to Understand Why Place of Such Beauty Has Escaped Public Attention.

High praise of the scenic beauty of the Palo Duro Canyon was voiced Tuesday by Dr. V. E. Monnett, an outstanding geologist of the southwest who is head of the school of Geology at the University of Oklahoma.

Dr. Monnett and a party of student geologists from the Oklahoma school explored the canyon Tuesday under the guidance of W. D. Mater, a member of the summer faculty at the College. Mr. Mater was a student assistant in the University last year.

The Palo Duro has many features more interesting than found in many national parks, Dr. Monnett said. All of the coloring, peculiar formations, erosion effects and features, and all the beauty of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado are present in the Panhandle's own "big ditch," he said.

Except for its smaller scale, the Palo Duro has everything the Grand Canyon can boast of, members of the geological party agreed.

Dr. Monnett and members of his party were surprised, they said, that the beautiful Palo Duro has escaped wide public notice for so long. Since the park is easier of access than any of our national parks it is hard to understand why it has not been converted into a national park, Dr. Monnett said.

Dr. Monnett, for several years a staff man with the United States Geological Survey, has worked on several national park projects and his statements were considered authoritative.

The University of Oklahoma student geologists will spend the summer in New Mexico and Arizona doing field work in geology.

A net gain of 123 students over last summer's enrollment at the end of the sixth registration day was reported by Travis Shaw, secretary of the College. The college division showed a gain of 148 students while the high school enrollment dropped off 25.

The first term attendance this summer already has passed the total for the two terms last year, and an exceptionally heavy registration of new students was expected for the second half of the summer, college authorities said.

New Pleasure Park Being Constructed North of Canyon

A new pleasure resort, to be known as Locust Park, is to be opened July 4 at the site of the old Hale's Park, north of Canyon, according to A. R. Armstrong, owner.

A new swimming pool 150 feet by 60 feet will be ready for the opening day, Armstrong said. The pool is supplied by wells sunk especially for the purpose, and no creek water will be admitted to the pool, he said.

A string of tourist cabins already is under construction, and a dance pavilion, if not completed by July 4, will be ready soon thereafter, according to the owner. A fifteen year lease has been taken on the land, it is understood. Dancing will be held each Tuesday and Saturday evenings. Facilities for picnics and luncheon parties also will be provided, Armstrong said.

Miss Esther Rudolph and Mrs. Dan K. Usery returned Wednesday from El Reno, Okla., where they were called by the death and funeral of their father, C. F. Rudolph.

W. C. Kunze and Allen Early are Rotary Speakers Tuesday

The Rev. W. C. Kunze talked before the Canyon Rotary Club again Tuesday on the recent international convention of the organization which was held recently in Dallas.

Mr. Kunze told of the purely organizational features of the convention, which was attended by nearly 10,000 Rotarians from 35 countries.

Allen Early, president-elect of the Amarillo Club, also was a speaker at this week's luncheon of the Canyon Club.

Visiting Rotarians, in addition to Mr. Early, were: P. C. Bennett and J. J. Sanders, both of Amarillo. W. J. Fleisher of Amarillo also was a guest at the luncheon.

Gifts of Indians Show Interest in Historical Society

Mr. and Mrs. Evetts Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Jones, and Clifford Keith returned late last week from a trip into New Mexico. Taos, Las Vegas, and the Red River Canyon were visited by the party.

Mr. Haley, who is field secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, was particularly interested in a visit made to the Indian pueblo near Taos, he said. While the party was at the pueblo Mr. Haley conferred with the governor of the pueblo and his council.

The Indians had many questions about five buffaloes which recently were given them by Col. Charles C. Goodnight, pioneer plainsman. The Indians hope to start a buffalo herd with the animals given them from the Goodnight ranch.

Several beautiful specimens of Indian pottery and bead work were given Mr. Haley for the historical society museum here, he said. The Pueblos have become acquainted with the work of the society from previous visits to the tribe made by Mr. Haley and Col. Goodnight.

Joe Cannard, old time guide and prospector, who still lives in the Red River Canyon country, gave several specimens of old Spanish and early American saddle stirrups to the museum when he was interviewed by Mr. Haley last week. Mr. Cannard spent several years in lower Red River Canyon and is well acquainted with that district.

COUNTRY CLUB TOURNEY STARTED HERE SUNDAY

First rounds in what promises to be a "perpetual" golf tournament started on the Canyon Club links Sunday. Any member of the club is eligible for entry, and ten gold and ten silver golf balls have been provided for the first twenty places. Award of trophies will be made on the basis of low scores for the first time, and will be won in tournament play thereafter.

Each set of the trophies is numbered from one to ten and the holder of any ball may challenge the next high man in his class. The play can continue indefinitely and properly will, according to members of the club.

TO BE INSTRUCTOR IN EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE

Mrs. Elizabeth Fry Page, hostess at the Little House of Fellowship, Episcopal student center here, will leave this week for Lubbock where she will teach a course in child psychology at the North Texas Summer Conference of the Episcopal Church.

The school will be in session from June 17 through June 28. Out of town visitors will be housed at Cheri Casa dormitory of Texas Technological College. A notable array of church personalities make up the lecture program.

ECKHARDT HAVING GOOD SEASON WITH SEATTLE

Oscar Eckhardt, former Buffalo coach, is having a good season with the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast League, according to press dispatches. At last reports Eckhardt's batting average stood at .354, a fine record in a heavy-hitting league.

Eckhardt played last season with the Amarillo Texans, defunct Western League club.

"PALO DURO IS MINIATURE OF GRAND CANYON"

—DR. V. E. MONNETT

O. U. GEOLOGY DEAN THINKS IT A PARK SITE.

Says Unable to Understand Why Place of Such Beauty Has Escaped Public Attention.

High praise of the scenic beauty of the Palo Duro Canyon was voiced Tuesday by Dr. V. E. Monnett, an outstanding geologist of the southwest who is head of the school of Geology at the University of Oklahoma.

Dr. Monnett and a party of student geologists from the Oklahoma school explored the canyon Tuesday under the guidance of W. D. Mateer, a member of the summer faculty at the College. Mr. Mateer was a student assistant in the University last year.

The Palo Duro has many features more interesting than found in many national parks, Dr. Monnett said. All of the coloring, peculiar formations, erosion effects and features, and all the beauty of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado are present in the Panhandle's own "big ditch," he said.

Except for its smaller scale, the Palo Duro has everything the Grand Canyon can boast of, members of the geological party agreed.

Dr. Monnett and members of his party were surprised, they said, that the beautiful Palo Duro has escaped wide public notice for so long. Since the park is easier of access than any of our national parks it is hard to understand why it has not been converted into a national park, Dr. Monnett said.

Dr. Monnett, for several years a staff man with the United States Geological Survey, has worked on several national park projects and his statements were considered authoritative.

The University of Oklahoma student geologists will spend the summer in New Mexico and Arizona doing field work in geology.

One Minister and Four Deacons Are Ordained Sunday

Four deacons, Lee Johnson Cleveland Baker, Harris Cook, and James Cheyne, and one minister, Boone Laceywell were ordained Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church. A large congregation including many prominent visitors witnessed the service. Among the most prominent visitors present was G. S. Hopkins of Dallas, who is state Sunday School Superintendent.

The ordination sermon was preached by V. M. Cloyd, of Hereford. The examination of candidates was made by Rev. C. E. Saxon, missionary Tierra Blanco association. The ordination prayer was given by Rev. J. T. Burnett, the charge to the young minister by Rev. Sumrall of Amarillo, and the charge to the deacons by Rev. B. P. Fronabarger.

The presidency was composed by the above mentioned men, the pastor of the local Baptist church, Rev. Tierce of Ballenger, and a large group of deacons of Amarillo, Hereford, and other nearby towns.

The church considers that it is to be commended for the selection made. All of the deacons are prominent men not only in the church but in the community. Rev. Laceywell has been a student in the College for the past several years.

LEGISLATIVE PROBLEMS

The second called session of the 41st Legislature seems to be confronted with as many serious problems as was the regular session. Owing to the complex situation it is freely predicted that another called session will follow immediately with the prospects of the fourth called session sometime in the fall or winter. This is not cheerful news to the members who are now suffering through the heat of a summer in Austin and have already been away from their business for nearly six months.

The serious problem now is to make the income of the state spread over the rapidly growing needs and demands of the state institutions. Many of the Colleges have been cut by the House Committee far under the figure set by the Board of Control which had whittled the request of the institutions down half or more. For instance, the House has recommended $527,970.00 for the West Texas State Teachers College; the Board of Control recommended $598,680.00; while the request of the Board of Regents amounted to $1,317,825.00.

The Senate Committee has recommended for W. T. $853,963.00 and will likely pass this amount, thus, will be seen that the free conference must adjust the difference between the $527,970.00 as recommended by the House and $853,960.00 as recommended by the Senate.

Many friends of the College were probably surprised that the House passed the appropriation bill Friday afternoon without debate. It was agreed by all friends of education that it would be a waste of time to take up these bills owing to the great difference between the House and Senate. The consensus of opinion was to let the House bill go through for adjustment in the free conference as there will certainly be a real battle over the approval of the free conference bill.

Governor Moody has indicated that his blue pencil is sharp and will be freely used on the appropriation bills. The Board of Control set the proposed income of the state at $49,000,000.00. The House Committee estimated this income as $46,000,000.00. The Governor stated in a joint session that the maximum would be $44,000,000.00. The Senate bill calls for $56,000,000.00. Thus, will be seen the serious problem confronting the Committees and the probable result of the Governor's veto. It is freely predicted that the free conference may never reach an agreement within this thirty-day period.

The impeachment of J. T. Robison will likely take considerable time. Those who opposed preferring charges did so on the ground that if Robison had stolen from the State the courts were open for recovery, and the matter could be handled at one-third the cost in the courts as it would in the Legislature.

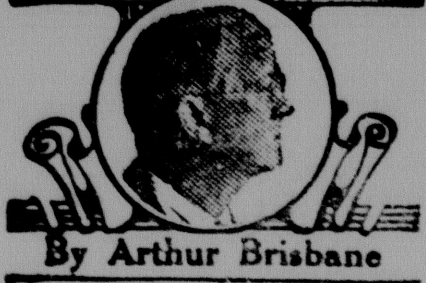

The Governor will veto the penitentiary bill as passed by the first called session and this serious problem will again be thrown into the Legislative hopper. Add to these matters of Legislation the utility bill, the many school bills; reduction of automobile registration fees; and the passage of an adequate gasoline tax, the reader will see the legislature has plenty of material for at least another called session.

It looks like a hot summer in Austin.

IN PRAISE OF WORK

Accustom a man to 16 hours of work a day, and he will regard 10 hours' work as a soft snap. But accustom him to working 7 or 8 hours, and he will look upon 10 hours of work as an unbearable hardship. Young men of today too often are under the disadvantage of having been trained in the 8-hour idea.

LONG LIFE TO THEM. DOWN GOES WHEAT. WHAT WILL LABOR DO? MACHINERY PLUS POWER.

You hope that "the" young couple will live many years happily, and everybody knows that you mean Colonel Lindbergh and his wife.

There is happiness in being well known, and well liked for good reasons, and young Lindbergh possesses it.

Without exception, the entire world wishes him well.

The price of wheat dropped to 97 1/2 cents some days ago. Lowest price since 1914. For the Federal Reserve and the combined forces of usury to attack stock values makes no difference. Only wicked gamblers buy stocks.

But the conduct of the Federal Reserve will attract President Hoover's attention, if wheat, cotton and other farm products continue dropping.

It is embarrassing to take office on a "save the farmer" platform and find that your Federal Reserve is hitting the wheat and cotton growers on the head.

Labor appears to have won the British election.

British labor is socialistic, much of it communistic, but of mild communism.

Imagine the panic in dear old Wall Street and every well organized financial mind if Labor and Socialism controlled the government of this country.

But the British will manage. They "muddle through" because they have common sense and British Labor has honest, intelligent leaders.

Ramsey MacDonald is as good a man as there is in Britain, although not as great or able a statesman as Lloyd George.

The motto of the Pacific Coast seems to be: "If you haven't got a thing, get it."

The city of Stockton, the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys can produce enough food to feed a great part of the world.

But the place needs a harbor for ships, and will have it. Stockton, the State of California and the Federal Government this year will dig a deep water channel to the sea, and Stockton will have a harbor "big enough to hold 90 per cent of the ships that come thru the Golden Gate."

No one knows what the future of the Pacific coast will be, or what the size of inland harbors built will be, wherever men want them.

Mr. George E. Moore of No. 52

DOUBTERS

By Dr. John Joseph Gaines
The doubter is in the woods—a lost man. Doubt breeds infidelity, discouragement, failure, despair. I may not be able to afford a costly automobile; I may deny myself everything in the way of luxury on account of a thin purse and a puny income; but at least of all I can afford to harbor doubts.

The halting twin of fear is doubt. Fear and doubt will sink any navigator on the sea of life. Therefore, I shall not permit either of them aboard my vessel.

But they must be watched—or they will creep in unnoticed; they take possession while we are not looking for them. And, they have a way of knowing every time we trip on a snag or a boulder in our path; that, above all times, is when we must shake off the spell of doubt and indecision.

If doubt ever got folks anywhere, I could be more lenient toward it; but it doesn't; it never did; therefore I will have none of it.

The man who buys a farm, or a house in town—and doubts his ability ever to pay, is pretty sure to go by default in the end. Look about you, and verify the truth of what I am telling you. Then turn and look at the plodding fellow who never had a doubt in his life—who kept pegging away—and heaped a competence for happy old age!

There is room and plenty for all in this world; you know that's the truth. Nobody ever got his share by doubting. Doubt is my worst enemy; if I kill him on sight he cannot come back to haunt me. There are three stages to failure: Doubt—hesitation—lost. Two to success: Confidence—zeal.

If lice are present in the poultry flock, it is important to control these pests before the hatching season, by dusting the hens with sodium fluoride. This material is harmful if used on very young chicks.

While it is true a lot of money is spent each year for fun, there are some folks who never seem to have any.

SANDWICHES

Delicious Meats and Salads on fine light-toasted bread—Boy, but they're good!

J. J. WALKER DRUG STORENEW PROBLEMS COMING

Australia is planning to rehabilitate land, impetus to the movement having been given by the irrigation in America of previously unproductive parts of Texas and Arizona which have become very productive agricultural areas.

In the eastern district of Victoria an effort will be made to reclaim thousands of acres now given over to rabbits and bracken.

A canal is planned in Central Australia, partly to improve transport, partly because it would so affect the climate as to increase rainfall.

At the same time an American engineer has incorporated a company to reclaim more than 100,000 miles of the great Sahara Desert.

If the scheme goes through and brings about the effect promised for it, thousands of acres now barren will be made productive.

All of these undertakings are commendable and show what rapid agricultural strides are being made. They are unmistakable, strong signs of a mighty progress.

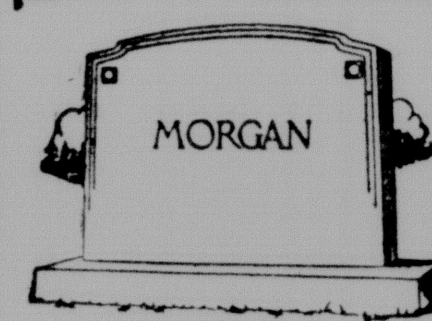

At the same time the successful completion of these plans, and the subsequent greater area of thriving farm land, will give farmers new problems to solve.

Virtue is the only and true nobility—Juvenal.

When the firemen call, dressed for action, it is too late to think of insurance. The loss may be large—or the loss may be small—but a loss nevertheless unless you have your home and personal property well insured. Winter is the season of the year when fire losses are greatest. Putting off taking out a fire insurance policy is a gamble which no one can afford. Let us explain the economy which may be enjoyed in various kinds of policies.

HUSBANDS CAN'T KEEP PACE WITH WIVES, SAYS WRITER

"I'm not a tired business man, I'm just a tired husband whose emancipated wife has got my wind," declares W. O. Saunders, noted country editor of Elizabeth City, N. C.

"When I was married," he continues, at the age of twenty, I had a sneaky, sinking feeling in my heart because my wife was twenty-one. I shuddered from an obtrusive notion that because my wife was twenty-one, I should live to see her grow old. And I lived to face the distressing fact that my wife lives to see me getting old while she persists in getting younger every day.

"Time was when the married female of the species was faded at thirty and settled in her ways. The modern wife at thirty has only begun to live; by the time she is forty she has begun to display pep and stamina in ways that astound and appall her faltering mate.

"We have, by our inventions and enterprise, emancipated women from the drudgery of housework. We have given her steam heat, electric refrigeration, a vacuum cleaner and a delicatessen around the corner. No wonder the dear better halves think so much of leisure time and devise so many ways of enjoying it, while we boob husbands exhaust ourselves at our own work by day and have little heart for anything but a snooze at nightfall."

Delaware and Nevada furnish the fewest citizens to Texas. In the 1920 census 234 persons of Nevada birth and 234 of Delaware birth were in the Texas enumeration. Of the total population 70.9 per cent were born in Texas, 20.3 were born in other states of the union and 8.3 foreign born.

Every state has contributed to Texas' population, ranging from the 234 from Delaware and Nevada on up to the 115,861 from Tennessee. Outside the South, Missouri with 63,336 leads, but Oklahoma has sent 58,492, Illinois 39,941, Kansas 21,537, Ohio 19,863, Pennsylvania 15,463 and New York 15,437.

Stay On the Farm and Be Happy Singer Advises

NOTE—The entire music-loving world has been startled by the announcement of Marion Talley, world-famous prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, that she is retiring from her operatic career to go into farming as a profession.

The meteoric career of Marion Talley has been both lucrative and brilliant. She made her debut in 1926, and three years of singing in leading operatic roles have established an enviable reputation for her. Now, at 22, an age when few singers even get well started, she plans to abandon all the glory of her career to be a happy farmer.

The famous Kansas City girl, whose debut was one of the events in musical history made her last public appearance in Cleveland on May 4th. Immediately afterwards she started west with the intention of purchasing a farm.

Her reasons for leaving her spectacular career at its height are set forth in the exclusive statement below, which carries a message for every boy and girl in America. Here is a girl who achieved everything that the cities offer—wealth, fame, and all that goes with it—yet she flings all these aside to take up farm life.

We present this story in the hope that it will serve as a striking example inspiring American youths to find their happiness on the farm rather than seeking it far afield.

To the Farm Boys and Girls of America

By MARION TALLEY

I advise every boy and girl in America fortunate enough to live on a farm to stay there. Farm life is wonderful. It's the only natural life. I have tasted the glamour of a successful career in the big cities of America, the very thing that lures the farm boy and girl to metropolitan centers—yet am unhesitatingly abandoning it all for the sake of life on a farm.

After all, we all are the products of nature and the closer we can get back to nature, the better for us.

There's absolutely nothing more healthful than working in dirt. One is strong and healthy when plowing and breathing the fresh country air.

On the farms of America, one obtains the freshest and best food. Food that comes right from the ground to the kitchen. In the cities it is often difficult to obtain fresh, pure food.

There is no greater opportunity for happiness anywhere than there is on the farm. Now there are colleges and universities not far from farms—education is accessible to all, and when one studies and lives on a farm one can really concentrate and avoid the distractions of city life.

I am going into real, honest-to-goodness hard farm labor, and expect to make it pay. My farm will not be merely a toy. At least it will pay for itself, and I know I will enjoy life more. The glamour of a successful career is an nothing compared to the happiness I anticipate in the country. There I will breathe the air people were meant to breathe, and I will continue there in my musical studies for my own pleasure and the pleasure of my family.

The plaudits of audiences, the triumphs one makes in the opera, the flattering notices in the press—I would not be human if I denied that these things gave me pleasure. But I lived without them before, and can live without them again.

I have acquaintances who have left farms where they lived under ideal conditions to go to cities where they are forced to struggle for a mere existence. I have always been sorry for them.

How rare it is that a country person becomes ill, and how prevalent disease is in a big city! In a city people are always talking of their operations. In the country, people are too healthy and too busy to have operations.

I am going to the farm because it is healthier—because I want to own a place on earth—because I want the great pleasure of seeing things grow.

And I want to be among the farmers of the land, in an informal and natural atmosphere where one can be oneself and enjoy life to the full.

ILLITERACY

It is alarming to consider that there are 5,000,000 men and women in this country who cannot read or write.

Almost a million and a half of children of school age do not attend school.

Now the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is conducting a campaign to eliminate illiteracy. They hope to make great strides by 1930. If this association brings home to people the importance of education and literacy, a great deal will have been accomplished. Illiterates are never "free." They are the exploited and oppressed at all times. There should be a minimum of illiteracy in a country such as America, dedicated to the ideal of democracy.

Calvin Coolidge, when president, advocated the establishment of a Department of Education with a Secretary in the cabinet to cope with the problem of illiteracy.

The legislation was not enacted, however, and we respectfully submit the idea to the consideration of Herbert Hoover.

We have just learned that fact from a current magazine. 197 different grades of satin!

As a matter of fact, we couldn't tell whether we were getting Grade 25, or Grade 167.

For that very reason, we prefer to buy our merchandise at home. We prefer to buy it from our local merchants who know the merchandise and in whom we have explicit confidence.

We don't know the various grades of satin or silk or muslin. It isn't necessary that we know them. We have dry goods merchants here in Canyon on whom we can depend for that information when we need it.

ADVERTISES RODEO TO BE STAGED IN AMARILLO

According to Mr. Taylor, the rodeo is easily the greatest single pre-Fair attraction of the season and maximum crowds are expected at every performance, afternoon and night, during the three days, especially on the Fourth of July.

More than $7,500 in cash prizes is going to be awarded to winners of the contests held in connection with the rodeo. These contests, which include bulldogging, roping, riding, and all regular rodeo features, are open to every cowboy in the Panhandle, Oklahoma and New Mexico, Mr. Taylor said. Several from here are planning to go to Amarillo for the rodeo.

A NATIONAL DISGRACE

One person out of every twenty-four in the United States in 1920 could not read or write, according to the Federal Census of that year. Nine years have passed, and another Census will soon be taken. What will its findings be? Will it again reveal to us 5,000,000 illiterates within our borders? Will it again place us tenth among the great nations of the world?

Adult illiteracy can be wiped out in the months that remain in 1929, according to the statement of the National Illiteracy Crusade, which is actively engaged at its Washington headquarters in stimulating all responsible official and volunteer organizations throughout the country to make every effort to reduce the illiteracy totals.

The Crusade points with particular emphasis to the most pathetic of all illiterates—the 1,000,000 mothers who can neither read nor write. While the children are young, the mother's ignorance is a dreadful handicap in training them, and when the children have grown up and left the home her loneliness is pitiable. She is separated from them by more than mere miles. She cannot write to them, she cannot read the letters they send. She cannot turn to her

Bible for consolation.

Surely these million mothers, many of them native born Americans, are worthy of the education which it is within the power of every literate adult to give. The National Illiteracy Crusade has demonstrated that adults can be taught to read and write in from four to six weeks. It has placed suitable text books at the disposal of the volunteer teachers. It has developed an easy method of instruction.

If the patriotic citizens of this country will co-operate by devoting the necessary time to the instruction of the illiterates in their communities there is no reason why the Federal Census of 1930 should not show a reduction in illiteracy about which the entire nation may be proud. And although literacy is an end to be desired in itself, it is bound to bring with it many other benefits—improved standards of living, more intelligent care of children and better understanding of American ideals.

That Good Old-Fashioned Flavor

No doubt about it—old-time cooking was delicious. But it may have been our youthful appetites, rather than the quality of the food itself, that gave it that super-flavor we all remember. The good cooks of those days never had a chance to buy such groceries as modern housewives use.

The coffee on your breakfast-table—one of the half-dozen best-known brands advertised today—has a flavor that you could find only at a few famous restaurants, forty years ago. The cakes that mother used to make would have been even lighter, fluffier, if she had had modern flour and shortening to work with.

Every day the advertising columns tell you where to buy and how to use cooking materials that are better-tasting, purer, more conveniently put up than ever before in history.

All through your housekeeping the same rule holds good. There are better things nowadays to eat, to wear, to use. Read the advertisements and know what they are. Then ask for them by name.

WHY LUMBER?

When one of your customers questions the wisdom of advertising, tell him the story of lumber. Here is an excellent example of the gradual breaking down of a fundamental industry: Lumber manufacturers figured they did not need to advertise. There would always be a demand for lumber, they thought.

But the seemingly impossible thing happened. Substitutes for wood came into existence. The manufacturers of the substitute materials began to advertise.

Somehow, people conceived the false idea that the lumber supply was being rapidly exhausted and that lumber should be conserved by the use of substitutes. The lumber industry continued to be silent.

Instead of telling the world that trees should be cut when they ripen and that the plan of reforestation provided for a continuous supply of timber as large as that which then was standing, the lumber industry remained aloof, ignoring what was happening. It was not until the lumber market was defeated that the lumber men awoke to the true situation. And now the manufacturers are forced to spend vast sums annually trying to combat the calamitous result of their own inertia.

Naturally, the manufacturer was not the only one to suffer. The lumber retailer shared in the misfortune. He may not have believed in advertising ten years ago, but today he is a real convert. When it came to the question of survival, he was glad to have the good old raft of advertising to cling to. Advertising alone offered hope for recovery.

This is the true story of the lumber industry, the truth of which is shown by the full-page advertisements of a lumber trade associations in the national magazines. These advertisements are truthfully prepared to counteract the false impression gained of the lumber market.

These facts are worth telling to your dealers also as applying to other products. —Meredith's Merchandising Advertising.

Ten Nebraska Farmers Who Need No Relief

Talking of farm relief—there are at least ten farmers in Nebraska who opine that they want no relief from anyone.

These ten were chosen by former Governor Samuel McKelvie of Nebraska as the most representative farmers in the state, and were recently named "Master Farmers" by Gov. A. J. Weaver. Every farmer and rancher in the state was considered for the award of the title of "Master Farmer."

The average age of the "Master Farmers" picked is 50.2. Their average net worth when they started farming was around $15,000, while today their average net worth is approximately $130,000. There are wealthier farmers in Nebraska, but these did not make their money solely through farming.

The following are the honored ten:

D. S. Anderson, Lexington; J. C. Carson, Irwin; J. E. Donaldson, Albion; Frederick Ehrman, Gering; Charles W. Garrison, Union; Robert S. Lee, Brownlee; J. A. Lother, Crete; Frank Potter, Monroe; and L. G. Tochim of Ashland.

The selections were based on these points: Operation and organization of farm; business methods and ability; general farm appearance and upkeep; home life; citizenship.

Eight winners were dirt farmers and two ranchers.

All have comfortable homes, equipped with many conveniences and labor-saving devices. The average number of rooms per house is 9.6. All have running water in their homes and nine have modern heating plants. Nine have electricity in their homes and barns; some have farm plants and others get their electricity from power lines. All have power washing machines. Three have electric refrigerators and six have other refrigerators.

The average size of the eight farms is 439 acres and the ranches average 14,870 acres. The average number of acres of crops per farm not including the two ranches is: Corn, 119; wheat, 43; oats, 24; legume crops, 74; other hay and pasture 141. It can be seen by these averages that the farmers rotate their crops and grow comparatively large acreages of legume crops to maintain their soil fertility. The average crop acres farmed per man by the eight farmers is 104.

A chance to compare good with poor farming is given in the average crop yields of the Master Farmers against other farms. For instance, the average yield of corn on farms of the Master Farmers for five years is 42 bushels per acre average for counties in which the farmers live. Their wheat yield is 31 bushels for a five year average as compared to 18 bushels for other farmers in their county. Their oat average was 40 bushels per acre against 29.2 for their neighbors. The Master Farmers raised three tons per acre of alfalfa while their counties' average was 2.5.

One Ohio town is strong for safety first, having an ordinance which provides as follows: "When two cars come to a crossing both shall stop and neither shall start until the other is gone." If this be carefully observed there will not be many collisions, though there might be some slight traffic congestion.

Birthday celebration as recorded by an exchange: "Ella Marie Larsen in celebrating her birthday last Friday bought all-day suckers for the third grade."

A Colorado Springs man who advertised to trade a B-flat cornet for a shotgun had probably received an anonymous warning.

THE INTERNATIONAL HABIT

Humanity's ever-present desire to improve upon nature is the secret of civilization's progress. In consequence, an incalculable distance separates the caveman from his present-day brother. And while in many thousands of instances nature has been decidedly improved upon, there are just as many more where the attempt has not been nearly so successful.

Take for example, the question of drink. There is absolutely no substitute for water, either in quality or effectiveness, for the quenching of thirst. Yet man possibly never was nor never will be satisfied with "nature's own." The vast soft-drink industry is the most modern expression of this fact, and the equally vast, indeed more vast, habit of coffee and tea drinking, exhibits this tendency in man from the early times.

The universal custom of indulging in coffee and tea, while giving it undeniably the stamp of approval, does not give either the coffee bean or the tea leaf an unimpeachable standing with nature and health. As a matter of fact, the opposite situation is more likely to be true than otherwise.

It were folly to state that to the vast majority of coffee drinkers the habit does any real damage. To most people, coffee in reasonable moderation acts merely as a mild stimulant through its slight caffeine content. And that is the end of it.

Nevertheless there is a minority—large in the aggregate—to whom the habitual use of coffee in any quantity is measurably harmful. And then again there is a very much smaller number of persons who should not drink it at all.

"Handle with care" coffee has its place in the daily menu for the majority, but any untoward symptoms such as nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, biliousness, lack of appetite, call for a quick cut on this habit and probably its entire elimination.

And what has been said concerning coffee applies in a lesser degree to tea. Tannin to a very limited amount is in every cupful of properly brewed tea and is present in larger quantities in the boiled or overdone product. And tannin is a poison.

It is just possible that coffee or tea may be your one and only besetting sin against the possibility of enjoying that supreme sense of health which is your due. So face the coffee and tea problem squarely if it happens to be one with you. It will even pay you to be heroic in this matter.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing.

The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house!

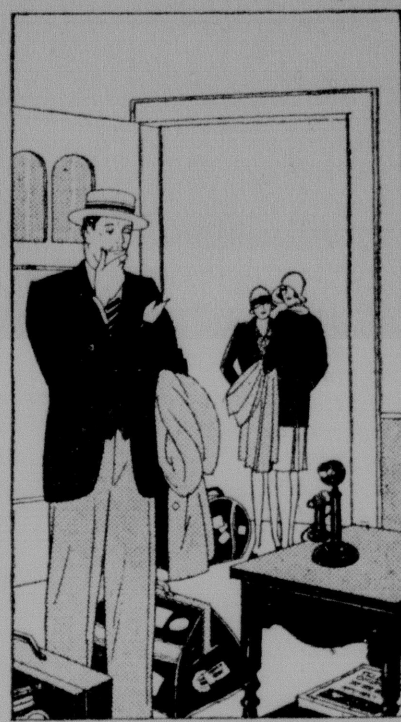

Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return. That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

"Something should be done about this."

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months.

To obtain them, mail the coupon or telephone the business office.

Got Up In The Morning Feeling DIZZY

"I BEGAN to suffer with headache and biliousness," says Mr. John C. Malone, of Buena Vista, Ohio. "I had a hurting through the middle part of my body which seemed to come from indigestion. I would get constipated, and then feel all out of sorts. I would get up in the morning feeling dizzy, and everything I ate would disagree with me."

OUR HIRED MAN SAYS:

You can't fatten a porker on saw dust.

Job's turkey with proper feeding could have been made fit to have graced any Thanksgiving table.

Every town requires so many knockers to keep the nails driven up.

The non-advertiser pays the bills of the advertiser with the goods he doesn't sell.

Co-operation is the key that opens the door of opportunity and makes possible success out of failure.

Religion and Christianity are two different attributes of the human family the first of which we have a surplus and the second of which we have great need in all our daily undertakings.

WHY LUMBER?

When one of your customers questions the wisdom of advertising, tell him the story of lumber.

Here is an excellent example of the gradual breaking down of a fundamental industry: Lumber manufacturers figured they did not need to advertise. There would always be a demand for lumber, they thought.

But the seemingly impossible thing happened. Substitutes for wood came into existence. The manufacturers of the substitute materials began to advertise.

Somehow, people conceived the false idea that the lumber supply was being rapidly exhausted and that lumber should be conserved by the use of substitutes. The lumber industry continued to be silent.

Instead of telling the world that trees should be cut when they ripen and that the plan of reforestation provided for a continuous supply of timber as large as that which then was standing, the lumber industry remained aloof, ignoring what was happening. It was not until the lumber market was defeated that the lumber men awoke to the true situation. And now the manufacturers are forced to spend vast sums annually trying to combat the calamitous result of their own inertia.

Naturally, the manufacturer was not the only one to suffer. The lumber retailer shared in the misfortune. He may not have believed in advertising ten years ago, but today he is a real convert. When it came to the question of survival, he was glad to have the good old raft of advertising to cling to. Advertising alone offered hope for recovery.

This is the true story of the lumber industry, the truth of which is shown by the full-page advertisements of a lumber trade associations in the national magazines. These advertisements are truthfully prepared to counteract the false impression gained of the lumber market.

These facts are worth telling to your dealers also as applying to other products. —Mercedith's Merchandising Advertising.

Ten Nebraska Farmers Who Need No Relief

Talking of farm relief—there are at least ten farmers in Nebraska who opine that they want no relief from anyone.

These ten were chosen by former Governor Samuel McKelvie of Nebraska as the most representative farmers in the state, and were recently named "Master Farmers" by Gov. A. J. Weaver. Every farmer and rancher in the state was considered for the award of the title of "Master Farmer."

The average age of the "Master Farmers" picked is 50.2. Their average net worth when they started farming was around $1,500, while today their average net worth is approximately $130,000. There are wealthier farmers in Nebraska, but these did not make their money solely through farming.

The following are the honored ten:

D. S. Anderson, Lexington; J. C. Carson, Irwin; J. E. Donaldson, Albion; Frederick Ehrman, Gering; Charles W. Garrison, Union; Robert S. Lee, Brownlee; J. A. Lottrop, Crete; Frank Potter, Monroe; and L. G. Tochum of Ashland.

The selections were based on these points: Operation and organization of farm; business methods and ability; general farm appearance and upkeep; home life; citizenship.

Eight winners were dirt farmers and two ranchers.

All have comfortable homes, equipped with many conveniences and labor-saving devices. The average number of rooms per house is 9.6. All have running water in their homes and nine have modern heating plants. Nine have electricity in their homes and barns; some have farm plants and others get their electricity from power lines. All have power washing machines. Three have electric refrigerators and six have other refrigerators.

The average size of the eight farms is 439 acres and the ranches average 14,870 acres. The average number of acres of crops per farm not including the two ranches is: Corn, 119; wheat, 43; oats, 24; legume crops, 74; other hap and pasture 141. It can be seen by these averages that the farmers rotate their crops and grow comparatively large acreages of legume crops to maintain their soil fertility. The average crop acres farmed per man by the eight farmers is 104.

A chance to compare good with poor farming is given in the average crop yields of the Master Farmers against other farms. For instance, the average yield of corn on farms of the Master Farmers for five years is 42 bushels per acre average for counties in which the farmers live. Their wheat yield is 31 bushels for a five year average as compared to 18 bushels for other farmers in their county. Their oat average was 40 bushels per acre against 29.2 for their neighbors. The Master Farmers raised three tons per acre of alfalfa while their counties' average was 2.5.

One Ohio town is strong for safety first, having an ordinance which provides as follows: "When two cars come to a crossing both shall stop and neither shall start until the other is gone." If this be carefully observed there will not be many collisions, though there might be some slight traffic congestion.

Birthday celebration as recorded by an exchange: "Ella Marie Larsen in celebrating her birthday last Friday bought all-day suckers for the third grade."

A Colorado Springs man who advertised to trade a B-flat cornet for a shotgun had probably received an anonymous warning.

THE INTERNATIONAL HABIT

Humanity's ever-present desire to improve upon nature is the secret of civilization's progress. In consequence, an incalculable distance separates the caveman from his present-day brother. And while in many thousands of instances nature has been decidedly improved upon, there are just as many more where the attempt has not been nearly so successful.

Take for example, the question of drink. There is absolutely no substitute for water, either in quality or effectiveness, for the quenching of thirst. Yet man possibly never was nor never will be satisfied with "nature's own." The vast soft-drink industry is the most modern expression of this fact, and the equally vast, indeed more vast, habit of coffee and tea drinking, exhibits this tendency in man from the early times.

The universal custom of indulging in coffee and tea, while giving it undeniably the stamp of approval, does not give either the coffee bean or the tea leaf an unimpeachable standing with nature and health. As a matter of fact, the opposite situation is more likely to be true than otherwise.

It were folly to state that to the vast majority of coffee drinkers the habit does any real damage. To most people, coffee in reasonable moderation acts merely as a mild stimulant through its slight caffeine content. And that is the end of it.

Nevertheless there is a minority—large in the aggregate—to whom the habitual use of coffee in any quantity is measurably harmful. And then again there is a very much smaller number of persons who should not drink it at all.

"Handle with care" coffee has its place in the daily menu for the majority, but any untoward symptoms such as nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, biliousness, lack of appetite, call for a quick cut on this habit and probably its entire elimination.

And what has been said concerning coffee applies in a lesser degree to tea. Tannin to a very limited amount is in every cupful of properly brewed tea and is present in larger quantities in the boiled or overdone product. And tannin is a poison.

It is just possible that coffee or tea may be your one and only besetting sin against the possibility of enjoying that supreme sense of health which is your due. So face the coffee and tea problem squarely if it happens to be one with you. It will even pay you to be heroic in this matter.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money . . . and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing.

The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house!

Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle telephones

Onesolution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return. That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

"Something should be done about this."

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months.

To obtain them, mail the coupon or telephone the business office.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

By ROBERTA LEE

A summer scheme for the Guest Room? Something cool, dainty and not extravagant? Then choose simple draperies and spreads, making color and pattern do the work of costly fabrics and accessories.

It is not necessary to have both over and under curtains in summer. Sheer ruffled tie-backs of tinted voile, organdie or tulle let in every stray breeze and are very decorative.

A wall background of interesting design will give all the pattern needed. Charming new wall papers are available in modern effects that blend equally well with antique or modern furnishings. See that both paper and curtains are in harmony with the rug, and paint woodwork to blend with the wall. For sensible summer spreads use sunfast mercerized broadcloth, taffeta, voile over sateen—or dip your plain candlewick spread in a color harmonizing with the general scheme. These few rules will give you a fresh and charming guest room at a very insignificant cost.

For "Fish Night"

Cream of Spinach Soup
Fried Halibut Tartar Sauce
Lyonnaise Potatoes Asparagus
Lettuce and Tomato Salad
Strawberry Shortcake
Iced Coffee

Tomato Outlets

Cut firm, ripe tomatoes in rather thick slices; season with salt, pepper and a little sugar and roll first in crumbs, then in beaten egg, again in crumbs. Fry in olive oil or butter until light brown. Serve with mayonnaise.

Are you afflicted with a dead-white bathroom in these days when everyone else is having gay, colorful tiled baths with smart touches of black in the fixtures?

Grieve not—for you can easily transform your dull room by using colorful linens and accessories and a clever treatment for the walls.

Fancy a cloud-blue papered wall spattered with silver stars, woodwork in the same blue, with thin voile curtains of palest pink and a bath mat in French blue and coral.

Or picture on the wall above the bath picture a decorative panel of paper—perhaps a sea-gull or gold-fish motif—on a ground of pale sea-green paper; accessories showing a subtle touch of black.

You can waterproof almost any paper, you know, by hanging it as usual and when dry, applying two coats of ordinary glue size. When thoroughly dry, paint with two coats of white waterproof varnish, and you'll have a blazed surface that may be washed with soap and water.

For the Roadside Dinner

Tomato juice cocktail
Double-deck sandwiches
of
Shrimp and deviled egg
Potato chips
Salad of peas, celery and cheese
Lemon tarts
Coffee

As a Scot Scrambles Eggs

Beat a chopped onion in 3 tbs. butter, then remove the onion and add 1½ cups cooked tomato, 2 teaspoons sugar, salt and pepper to taste and 6 eggs well beaten. Cook the same as scrambled eggs and serve on hot buttered toast.

A Spicy Salad Dressing

For beet, lettuce or string bean salad try this dressing which uses 1 ts. salt, ¼ ts. mustard, pepper and paprika to taste, 1 tbl. vinegar, ¼ cup olive oil, 1 tbl. horseradish, 2 tbs. tomato catsup, 2 chopped chives. Mix dry ingredients, add vinegar, catsup and horseradish and a lump of ice. Gradually add oil and beat thoroughly.

INDUSTRIAL SURVEY OF AMARILLO, TEXAS

If You Make Your Money In The Panhandle - Spend It In The Panhandle

AMARILLO CONSTRUCTION CO.

THIS WELL-KNOWN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY OF AMARILLO CONDUCTS A MODERN AND PROGRESSIVE PAVING BUSINESS INCLUDING CONTRACTING OF ALL KINDS OF EXCAVATIONS—THEIR SERVICE IS DEPENDABLE AND THEIR WORK MOST SATISFACTORY—LOCATED AT 614 LIPSCOMB STREET—PHONE 5239.

There is no greater need in the country today than that of good paved roads and streets. The tremendous increase in the amount of both city and county traffic, due to the modern motor car, has made it a matter of public necessity that all main roads be paved and kept in good repair.

Among the firms who early realized this need and equipped themselves to serve the public in this respect was the Amarillo Construction Company. They employ in their organization only such workmen as they can depend upon for reliable and competent work. They have provided the most modern and complete equipment for the satisfactory paving of streets, and highways and all kinds of excavating.

The thorough manner in which they execute all contracts and the public spirited policies which have governed their operations have won for them a warm place in the hearts of the public. When a body of public officials announce that a contract for paving has been let to this organization, there is evidenced a general satisfaction on the part of the public. With an enviable record of many jobs satisfactorily executed and giving complete and lasting satisfaction, it is not strange that their services are so much in demand.

This Company has completed many paving contracts all over this section of the state. With the steady improvement in our roads and streets we are sure the future will see this reliable firm handling the work in this territory.

CENTRAL PRODUCE COMPANY

IN AMARILLO, ARE FEATURING AN EXCELLENT SERVICE TO THE FARMERS ALL OVER THIS SECTION—ARE INFORMED AS TO PRICES DAILY AND ARE PAYING TOP PRICES FOR POULTRY, EGGS, HIDES AND FURS—LOCATED AT 313 VAN BUREN, PHONE 4243.

We are fortunate to have such a splendid organization as the Central Produce Company to serve in the capacity of furnishing the producer with a market, as they always offer the top of the market prices.

They are familiar with the poultry and egg business and by experience learned the various features that are conducive to success. They are well informed as to which and what is the best for your particular needs and are always willing and anxious to give you any and all information free of all charge.

They are thoroughly familiar with conditions in the poultry, egg, fur and hide markets and are able to place all produce bought in advantageous markets and grade it so that the highest prices will be obtained. It is this part of the business that makes the profit for the firm as they pay the farmers more than could be secured if they shipped to other places.

They offer the farmers a most advantageous market right here at home.

In making this review we are glad to compliment them upon the up-to-date policy upon which the business of the establishment is conducted and to say that this firm will greatly aid in the development of this section of the country.

DR. L. M. BLACK

CHIROPRACTOR—A PALMER GRADUATE.

With offices in the Central Office Building in Amarillo, Phone 2-2813, Dr. L. M. Black is enjoying a large and well merited clientele from Amarillo and the adjoining territory. As we think of the afflictions that mankind is accidentally subjected to we look at the smooth exterior of our body and wonder why.

But the more we know about ourselves the easier we can understand cause and effect.

In the first stage of life the principal thing to be noticed is the brain. The brain, being first, must be the medium through which Nature builds a complete body.

The baby is born with the organism working normally. As long as Nature can continue the reconstructive energy, the baby will grow and remain normal in every respect until like an old machine, it will finally wear out. If you were once well and normal, why are we sick now?

Dr. Black will prove to you that the so-called disease of the stomach, dyspepsia, headache, special nervous disease and the nerve system are due to interference with the constructive energy partially or wholly through interference with the spinal nerves, causing disease wherever the nerves extend.

By making an analysis of the vertebrae he can detect any displacements and by simple adjustments can remove the interference which causes disease; health naturally follows.

The human body is so constructed that it is unnatural for disease to creep in without cause. The nerve system is designed to give perfect health to all organs and to keep them repaired. If through abnormal curvature, jolts, falls, or wrenches at some time in life, the movable bones of the spine are displaced even slightly they press on these nerves and obstruct the flow of energy. Weakness and disease results in the organs that these nerves supply.

We wish to call to our readers' attention Dr. Black, who has a reputation above reproach, and is and is among our most successful chiropractors.

The value in money is in what it will buy—the necessities, the comforts, the luxuries of life. Money spent in your community to buy these things for its people stays there where every person shares in the new profits its trading produces.

More modern conveniences, a wider social life, a greater business activity, in fact, a far-reaching, ever-growing wave of benefits to every citizen of the district follows the practice of buying at home.

Our manufacturers, merchants, and professional men help financially to support our civic improvements, our church affairs, to advertising space in this and that program. (which in most cases is merely a donation), in fact, do perhaps more than their share in dozens of worthy causes each year to help make our community and district a better place to live in.

Surely it is not asking too much when we ask that when you shop, try your home and neighboring towns first. We have never heard of a mail order house or some distant merchant contributing to our civic improvements. If every citizen could appreciate the value of the help extended by the firms in our district each year, he or she would begin to realize that without this help most of the worthy causes would never acquire the necessary means to be termed a success.

GREAT WEST MILL & ELEVATOR COMPANY

HOME OF AMARYLLIS AND GREAT WEST FLOUR

The Great West Mill & Elevator Company located in Amarillo at 2400 N. E. 3rd St., Phone 9821, are manufacturers of the famous Amaryllis and Great West Flour.

These two brands of flour are of such uniform quality that the customer will take no substitute from the dealer. We particularly call your attention to the fact that this is a local company and merits your support.

Amaryllis and Great West Flour are manufactured especially, particularly and solely for the woman who bakes in the home, and the baker who is anxious to please and hold his trade.

Waste of food materials these days is almost criminal and to buy flour that is not dependable results in waste of food that is spoiled in baking. You will save food, money, time and temper if you buy Amaryllis and Great West Flour.

Every woman owes it to herself and her family, every baker to himself and his customers, that the best flour be used in baking bread, biscuits, rolls, cakes or pastry and you can do it by following the directions of any standard, reliable recipe, if you use this brand.

This flour is made under conditions that permit the closest attention to all the details of manufacture by the management whose knowledge and "knack" give the flour its character, its quality, its flavor and uniformity.

Amaryllis and Great West Flour

are all round flours, made to suit every need of the housewife and baker to produce perfect results in all branches of cookery. The rich, meaty flavor of the choicest wheat that is grown is evident in everything that it makes. If you do not find it of better flavor, better texture and more uniform in results than any other flour you have ever used, your dealer will cheerfully refund the purchase price. For the Great West Mill & Elevator Company guarantees every sack.

In this review of our progress we cannot fail to compliment this progressive concern on its industry, and to say that it has been a decided factor to the industrial life of the community.

BERRY & HATCH

WITH MODERN OFFICES IN THE OLIVER-EAKLE BUILDING IN AMARILLO—PHONE 7722—ARE TWO OF THE FOREMOST ARCHITECTS IN AMARILLO AND ARE MEN OF HIGH STANDING, EXPERIENCE AND ABILITY—SPECIALIZING IN MUNICIPAL BUILDINGS, SCHOOLS, COURT HOUSES AND PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The work of the architect is held in high regard in its relation to every phase of building endeavor as it is to his creative ability and at times his artistic skill that the realization of a beautiful and useful structure is accomplished.

Before a spade of earth is turned, or a brick laid, every detail of the structure has been planned by the architect who in his sketches gives the client the idea of the composite effect embodied in the finished building as well as the features of the construction.

For its population Amarillo in the Panhandle is remarkable for its many varied and durable buildings. Most of these have been designed by local architects, who each year add to their prestige by new achievement in the field of building design to meet the present day demand.

Prominent in the architectural field in Amarillo are Berry & Hatch who have been responsible for the designing of many later day structures of varied types.

To erect a structure is one accomplishment. To make it attractive and expressive of the advancement of the age is another work of marked superior score. To express the best ideals that time has developed calls for the skill in both planning and building. The property owner wishes to provide a home, commercial building, plant or civic structure which will embody beauty, type and durability thru the years to come, as well as floor plan, and it is through the skilled architect and contractor that the provision of the requisites are made possible.

What makes one building distinct from another lies largely in the mind of the planner. The same material and method of treatment in general use in one instance will fail dismally in another for effectiveness thru lack of contrast, design or minor details, small in themselves, but important in their relation to the composite whole.

Messrs. Berry & Hatch have designed and supervised the construction of many of the finest buildings in this section of Texas. People planning to build not only want certain ideas carried out, but they require expert advice from the architect as to what is best and the latest methods of construction.

Special plans and new designs are constantly created to give their clients the benefit of the latest development in home, school, court house, public and municipal buildings. If you are going to build we suggest that you secure Berry & Hatch's services.

DR. L. M. BLACK

CHIROPRACTOR—A PALMER GRADUATE.

With offices in the Central Office Building in Amarillo, Phone 2-2813, Dr. L. M. Black is enjoying a large and well merited clientele from Amarillo and the adjoining territory. As we think of the afflictions that mankind is accidentally subjected to we look at the smooth exterior of our body and wonder why.

But the more we know about ourselves the easier we can understand cause and effect.

In the first stage of life the principal thing to be noticed is the brain. The brain, being first, must be the medium through which Nature builds a complete body.

The baby is born with the organism working normally. As long as Nature can continue the reconstructive energy, the baby will grow and remain normal in every respect until like an old machine, it will finally wear out. If you were once well and normal, why are we sick now?

Dr. Black will prove to you that the so-called disease of the stomach, dyspepsia, headache, special nervous disease and the nerve system are due to interference with the constructive energy partially or wholly through interference with the spinal nerves, causing disease wherever the nerves extend.

By making an analysis of the vertebrae he can detect any displacements and by simple adjustments can remove the interference which causes disease; health naturally follows.

The human body is so constructed that it is unnatural for disease to creep in without cause. The nerve system is designed to give perfect health to all organs and to keep them repaired. If through abnormal curvature, jolts, falls, or wrenches at some time in life, the movable bones of the spine are displaced even slightly they press on these nerves and obstruct the flow of energy. Weakness and disease results in the organs that these nerves supply.

We wish to call to our readers' attention Dr. Black, who has a reputation above reproach, and is among our most successful chiropractors.

The value in money is in what it will buy—the necessities, the comforts, the luxuries of life. Money spent in your community to buy these things for its people stays there where every person shares in the new profits its trading produces.

More modern conveniences, a wider social life, a greater business activity, in fact, a far-reaching, ever-growing wave of benefits to every citizen of the district follows the practice of buying at home.

Our manufacturers, merchants, and professional men help financially to support our civic improvements, they donate to our school papers, our church affairs, to advertising space in this and that program, (which in most cases is merely a donation), in fact, do perhaps more than their share in dozens of worthy causes each year to help make our community and district a better place to live in.

Surely it is not asking too much when we ask that when you shop, try your home and neighboring towns first. We have never heard of a mail order house or some distant merchant contributing to our civic improvements. If every citizen could appreciate the value of the help extended by the firms in our district each year, he or she would begin to realize that without this help most of the worthy causes would never acquire the necessary means to be termed a success.

Meeting with instant and almost universal approval, the work of this company is now going into all parts of the country, and with the dawn of new prosperity the future will see this firm one of the busiest beehives of industry as prosperity gives impetus to the desire for efficiency. There is not an establishment in the country which is of greater commercial value than this company.

The name stands for quality, reliability and progress in the laundry business of this section of the Panhandle, and as the advances of the periods have marked improvements this firm has adopted these late scientific methods as rapidly as they have appeared and were approved by the trade.

They have won a warm place in the hearts of the public through the excellent work they have done in every branch of the laundry business. The thinking public has come to understand that when work goes to this firm it is done according to their reliable methods and a satisfactory job is certain.

It is a pleasure for us to point to this concern as one of the leading enterprises of this section and

They are one of the leading concerns engaged in this special field of endeavor, and we point out the advantage of doing business with them.

Their parcel post service is a convenient feature for the residents of Canyon.

TRY-STATE CANDY COMPANY

THE PANHANDLE'S LEADING CANDY FACTORY—DEMAND THIS HOME PRODUCT FROM YOUR DEALER—NOT ONLY TO SUPPORT HOME MANUFACTURERS BUT TO BE ASSURED OF PURE CANDIES.

In our review of the progress of Amarillo we know of no firm more worthy of extended mention than the Try-State Candy Company. This establishment owns and is located in their new modern factory at 316 N. Osage N. W. The factory is a model sanitary brick building 100x150 feet, with concrete floors and a basement 50x50 feet. Everything about this factory is sanitary and the products are made of pure ingredients, even the water used is from their own well which is the same as the popular Amato water.

This is the largest and best equipped Candy Factory this side of Fort Worth and Oklahoma City.

Equipment alone represents approximately $40,000.00—for instance they have nine Marble slabs which cost, delivered, nearly $200.00 each; the very latest Hobart Mixers, cream mixers and Enrober Chocolate Dipping Machinery for all Candy Bars.

The Try-State Candy Co. believes as the State Chamber of Commerce does that "What Texas Makes, Makes Texas," consequently nothing but Texas products are used in their plant when they are able to secure them. If "What Texas Makes—Makes Texas," why not "What The Panhandle Makes—Makes the Panhandle."

The writer visited this modern factory from office to basement and wishes to state that it was not found wanting in any respect. The products include approximately 40 different bars, a full line of pure Sugar Stick and No. 1 Salted Spanish Peanuts. Some of their many products that are sure worth trying are Cherry Sandwich; Peanut Cluster, and for those of you who are fond of coconut demand that your dealer stock Tri-State Tulips and Haystack. It is a fact that this company uses genuine chocolate and pure sugar in their products.

Folks, let us all get behind our Panhandle manufacturers and use their products—they are investing their money which helps us to have resources that will make our country by giving employment to our sons and daughters. This factory has faith in us by maintaining this industry here so we should have faith in them and use their products, especially when they are giving such fresh, pure and wholesome goods.

In conclusion, I wish to say that if you have a sweet tooth you need to satisfy we suggest that you drive out to the Western Mill & Elevator then north to the new Brick. Go thru this plant and see for yourself. If your children eat candy see that they get this Panhandle product, it is unlike some Eastern candy that is made to Sell. Mr. Jno. Rowland, the manager, Mr. Loomis, the candy manager and Mr. Tom Hill the Hard Candy maker are our neighbors and refuse to put anything into their products that they would not feed to their own children.

CREEKMORE IMPLEMENT COMPANY

EVERYTHING IN IMPLEMENTS

Located in Amarillo at 709 East 10th St., with Phone 5623, under the capable management of Mr. Creekmore, the Creekmore Implement Company deals on a large scale in farm implements, farm machinery, farm and mill supplies, and are popularly known throughout this section as "Farmers' Headquarters." They feature famous lines of farm machinery.

In this entire part of the Panhandle there is not an establishment that surpasses that of this well known dealer in point of diversity of articles carried for the farmer.

During the time they have been in business they have built a wonderfully large trade from the Canyon territory and it is safe to assert that the name and business is probably better known among the farmers of this section than that of any other similar establishment.

All implements and farm machinery are of the latest patterns and include all the most recently improved inventions and improvements.

The men who are in charge are courteous and accommodating and who will be pleased to demonstrate to any farmer who desires to drop into this favorite trading place, and keep up on the late models of farm implements and supplies.

The farmer of today who wishes to secure the maximum return from his land and labor must keep pace with the inventions in farm machinery and the farmers are indeed fortunate in having the services and modern stock offered by the Creekmore Implement Co.

We are pleased in this business review to compliment this popular concern and able management who are among the leading and popular business people of Amarillo.

TRY-STATE CANDY COMPANY

THE PANHANDLE'S LEADING CANDY FACTORY—DEMAND THIS HOME PRODUCT FROM YOUR DEALER—NOT ONLY TO SUPPORT HOME MANUFACTURERS BUT TO BE ASSURED OF PURE CANDIES.

In our review of the progress of Amarillo we know of no firm more worthy of extended mention than the Try-State Candy Company. This establishment owns and is located in their new modern factory at 316 N. Osage N. W. The factory is a model sanitary brick building 100x150 feet, with concrete floors and a basement 50x50 feet. Everything about this factory is sanitary and the products are made of pure ingredients, even the water used is from their own well which is the same as the popular Amato water.

This is the largest and best equipped Candy Factory this side of Fort Worth and Oklahoma City.

Equipment alone represents approximately $40,000.00—for instance they have nine Marble slabs which cost, delivered, nearly $200.00 each; the very latest Hobart Mixers, cream mixers and Enrober Chocolate Dipping Machinery for all Candy Bars.

The Try-State Candy Co. believes as the State Chamber of Commerce does that "What Texas Makes, Makes Texas," consequently nothing but Texas products are used in their plant when they are able to secure them. If "What Texas Makes—Makes Texas," why not "What The Panhandle Makes—Makes the Panhandle?"

The writer visited this modern factory from office to basement and wishes to state that it was not found wanting in any respect. The products include approximately 40 different bars, a full line of pure Sugar Stick and No. 1 Salted Spanish Peanuts. Some of their many products that are sure worth trying are Cherry Sandwich; Peanut Cluster, and for those of you who are fond of coconut demand that your dealer stock Try-State Tulips and Haystack. It is a fact that this company uses genuine chocolate and pure sugar in their products.

Folks, let us all get behind our Panhandle manufacturers and use their products—they are investing their money which helps us to have resources that will make our country by giving employment to our sons and daughters. This factory has faith in us by maintaining this industry here so we should have faith in them and use their products, especially when they are giving such fresh, pure and wholesome goods.

In conclusion, I wish to say that if you have a sweet tooth you need to satisfy we suggest that you drive out to the Western Mill & Elevator then north to the new Brick. Go thru this plant and see for yourself. If your children eat candy see that they get this Panhandle product, it is unlike some Eastern candy that is Made to Sell. Mr. Jno. Rowland, the manager, Mr. Loomis, the candy manager and Mr. Tom Hill the Hard Candy maker are our neighbors and refuse to put anything into their products that they would not feed to their own children.

Calles and Gomes Drop Politics For Farming

One of the strangest phenomena of the past few months is the sudden decision of two prominent world-figures to turn from their national activities to devote themselves to agricultural work.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, Minister of War and former President of Mexico, and Gen. Juan Vicente Gomez, who declined re-election to the presidency of Venezuela, are both to devote their time to farming.

Gen. Gomez is 72 years of age and has been in power in Venezuela since 1909. He is popular as a president, as proven by the constancy with which the people have supported him in his campaigns. Re-elected, he has declined to serve, saying that he prefers to return to agricultural work, in which he was formerly engaged.

Gen. Gomez prefers to farm rather than do anything else, but served his country as President in order to be of service when he was needed. He set out to establish order and assure prosperity, peace and happiness for Venezuela, and now after an active career in which he has done a great deal for his homeland, he feels that his objectives have been reached and he is free to retire to the obscurity of his farm, where he finds his greatest happiness.

The Minister of War of Mexico, Gen. Calles, has resigned his portfolio and will retire to the Pacific countryside to rest. Some of his time he will devote to the simple farm life of his ranch near Mexico City, exchanging, thus, his sword for a ploughshare.

The resignation of Calles closed nearly three months of emergency service to the government which he headed for four years and left last December after the designation of Emilio Portes Gil as provisional president and his successor.

At the time he disclaimed intention of participating further in Mexican political life, except in the event of emergency. This emergency arose during the recent military revolt, which Calles as Minister of War brought to its termination within two months.

NEW INVENTIONS

For warming small rooms and restricted spaces, an electric heater in the form of a slender bar, two feet long, has been introduced. It is thoroughly insulated, can be installed almost anywhere and operates with direct or alternating current.

Brakes are applied automatically as soon as the foot is removed from the accelerator in a safety system a Swiss inventor has developed. The brake is on when the car is in neutral gear, but is released with the shift to first and operation of the accelerator.

To prevent pumping water into the automobile gasoline tanks from filling stations, a special valve has been devised to fit on the end of the suction line inside the station tank. Its essential feature is a float which sinks in gasoline but rests on water and locks the pump before water at the bottom of the tank can be drawn into the customer's auto.

As a substitute for the regulation punching bag, a rubber sphere, attached to a headband by rubber cords, and worn in front where it can be struck with the fists, has appeared on the market. It is said to afford healthful exercise, gives practice in shadow boxing and is noiseless.

Lightweight bottles of paraffin-treated spruce fiber have been introduced as milk containers in place of the ordinary ones of glass. They eliminate the clatter, are easily opened and are tightly sealed when filled, to keep out dirt and to prevent tampering.

Table basketball, a game devised by a student at the Kansas agricultural college, has appeared in the form of a simple outfit that will amuse the players as well as spectators, and also test the skill. It consists of a metal box, the top of which is a cardboard field, depressed in the center to permit the ball to roll into any one of a number of holes along this part of the field.

Designed to eliminate the faults most frequently found in ordinary compasses, a new instrument is made in the form of beam compasses, but small and light enough to be used with one hand. It is claimed that the point of these compasses will not slip and tear the paper.

Greater safety in driving economy in gasoline, and convenience are some of the advantages claimed for an accelerator-control throttle attached to the gear-shift lever. It permits shifting from one speed to another without removing the foot from the brake pedal, prevents killing the motor and provides the "extra arm" so often needed while driving in crowded traffic.

Two Brooklyn men traded wives and now each thinks the other is a swindler.

EXPERT URGES CHURCHES TO ABOLISH SERMONS

The revolutionary suggestion to the American churches that they abolish the old-fashioned sermon, and substitute on Sunday a "canned sermon" prepared by professional sermon writers, is made by Frederick L. Collins, who has been engaged for two years in a survey of the present-day church situation.

Mr. Collins declares that the average sermon is "pitiful" and unfit to serve the Christian cause. He declares that the very word "sermon" has become a synonym for dullness and the word "preach" a synonym for tediousness.

"The old-fashioned expounding of the Bible is about as popular as the high wheeled bicycle," says Mr. Collins. "The passages in the Bible that most influence men need precious little elucidating. They are the simplest written and the plainest-meaning sentences in all literature. The average minister doesn't get very far when he tries to improve on them."

Mr. Collins shows that there are 216,000 sermons preached in the United States every Sunday morning, or about twenty million a year, counting the afternoon and evening efforts. "Obviously there aren't 216,000 people in the United States fit to preach sermons," says Mr. Collins, "and the result is an overwhelming number of poor sermons."

The remedy suggested to the churches is as follows:

"That the average minister be relieved of the necessity of sermon writing."

"That the task be assigned to men and women who are conspicuously able to perform it."

"That each denomination solicit and pay for an annual supply of the finest sermons that can possibly be written."

"That the number selected be sufficiently large to permit a wide choice of subjects by the local pastor."

"That each minister select the kind of sermon that best meets the needs of his particular congregation and to deliver it on Sunday, either by reading it or by committing it to memory."

HINTS FOR MOTORISTS

When a balloon tire goes flat, it lets the car down so far that it is sometimes difficult to get the jack under it. In such a case, it helps to lay the inflated spare on the ground and run the flat up on it. This will raise the car high enough to permit the placing of the jack under it.

One of the worst habits some drivers have is riding with one foot resting lightly on the clutch pedal. The constant pressure is just enough to cause the plates to slip a little and excessive wear is the result.

It is surprising how many people continue to drive with wet brakes when it's so easy to dry them. Merely set the hand-throttle for a car speed of about twenty-five miles an hour and play the brakes lightly, on and off, as you run. In less than a minute they will be dry.

If you cannot carry on a conversation in comfort while driving, the chances are you are going to fast. Stop talking, or better, slow down.

Fifty Korean railroad laborers, feeling that they were being poorly paid and badly treated planned a very effective strike by all lying down with their necks on the rails to await an oncoming train. They were removed and arrested before the train reached them. Their ingenious scheme is not expected to be generally imitated in labor circles.

HOUSES

By John Joseph Gaines

As a small boy, one of the most amazing passages I found in the New Testament, and one that taxed my credulity most, was the one containing assurance of "houses not made with hands." Had I not believed in God's word, I would have branded it a glaring falsehood.

Young manhood came, and with it—broader perceptive powers. Rambling through a wooded pasture, I saw a snail creeping by the side of a fallen tree-trunk; he was occupying his house, which hands had no part in building. It was a real home, too; one that filled every requirement of its owner.

You and I live in houses not made with hands—these wonderful bodies of ours. They have been called temples, where the spirit of God dwells. Whether they are so, I must let the builder of the universe judge. I know that such a spirit may dwell here—if the temple be kept clean and fit for such a tenant. The spirit of God, it seems to me, has but little room in a temple dedicated to moral leprosy.

We may own a hundred hand-built houses; may go in and out of them as we please; we may regard them as the last word in architecture, beauty and comfort; we may lease them to others; but, this house not made with hands is different; it requires our first and best care. Even the most trifling neglect may destroy it forever, and when we once forsake it, we cross its threshold no more.

It is my house not made with hands that gives me the most concern; it is worth inestimably more than any habitation that I myself might create. Therefore I will keep it clean inside and out, and be vigilant to protect it from dangerous and destructive influences. I want it to last at least a hundred years, if possible.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

BY NANCY HART

Have you ever thought of the varied uses to which you might put your odd pieces of sterling silver, aside from their customary service?

Salt cellars of the open type make charming clip or stam holder for the desk.

A sandwich tray—that is, a round one—can be used as an ice cream dish, a desert dish, for salads or for fruit. And this is likewise true of the berry bowl which is used these days for vegetables, salads, ice creams, and many other foods.

Coasters of the old English design with beading across the top can be put to excellent use as ash trays. That is, of course, when not holding their proper decanters. These are just a few of the many ways in which to get double service from sterling which, to yield fullest returns on its investment, should be used every day of its life.

For "Steak Night"

Cream of corn soup
Broiled steak Mashed potato
Baked stuffed tomatoes
Pineapple and cream cheese salad
Butterscotch cake
Coffee

One Day's Food

It is said for the average man doing fairly muscular work the day's food supply should contain: 1 1/4 lbs. bread or its equivalent in cereals; 2 oz butter or other fat; 2 oz sugar; 1 1/2 lbs. fresh fruit and green vegetables; 12 oz. of food from the meat or meat-substitute class, such as meat, poultry, eggs, fish, milk and dried beans, peas, lentils, etc.

Home-Made Furniture Polish

One of the best polishes known can be made by combining 3 parts olive oil or sweet oil with 1 part vinegar. 3 parts linseed oil and 1 part turpentine also makes a good finish.

Calles and Gomes Drop Politics For Farming

One of the strangest phenomena of the past few months is the sudden decision of two prominent world-figures to turn from their national activities to devote themselves to agricultural work.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, Minister of War and former President of Mexico, and Gen. Juan Vicente Gomez, who declined re-election to the presidency of Venezuela, are both to devote their time to farming.

Gen. Gomez is 72 years of age and has been in power in Venezuela since 1909. He is popular as a president, as proven by the constancy with which the people have supported him in his campaigns. Re-elected, he has declined to serve, saying that he prefers to return to agricultural work, in which he was formerly engaged.

Gen. Gomez prefers to farm rather than do anything else, but served his country as President in order to be of service when he was needed. He set out to establish order and assure prosperity, peace and happiness for Venezuela, and now after an active career in which he has done a great deal for his homeland, he feels that his objectives have been reached and he is free to retire to the obscurity of his farm, where he finds his greatest happiness.

The Minister of War of Mexico, Gen. Calles, has resigned his portfolio and will retire to the Pacific countryside to rest. Some of his time he will devote to the simple farm life of his ranch near Mexico City, exchanging, thus, his sword for a ploughshare.

The resignation of Calles closed nearly three months of emergency service to the government which he headed for four years and left last December after the designation of Emilio Portes Gil as provisional president and his successor.

At the time he disclaimed intention of participating further in Mexican political life, except in the event of emergency. This emergency arose during the recent military revolt, which Calles as Minister of War brought to its termination within two months.

NEW INVENTIONS

For warming small rooms and restricted spaces, an electric heater in the form of a slender bar, two feet long, has been introduced. It is thoroughly insulated, can be installed almost anywhere and operates with direct or alternating current.

Brakes are applied automatically as soon as the foot is removed from the accelerator in a safety system a Swiss inventor has developed. The brake is on when the car is in neutral gear, but is released with the shift to first and operation of the accelerator.

To prevent pumping water into the automobile gasoline tanks from filling stations, a special valve has been devised to fit on the end of the suction line inside the station tank. Its essential feature is a float which sinks in gasoline but rests on water and locks the pump before water at the bottom of the tank can be drawn into the customer's auto.

As a substitute for the regulation punching bag, a rubber sphere, attached to a headband by rubber cords, and worn in front where it can be struck with the fists, has appeared on the market. It is said to afford healthful exercise, gives practice in shadow boxing and is noiseless.

Lightweight bottles of paraffin-treated spruce fiber have been introduced as milk containers in place of the ordinary ones of glass. They eliminate the clatter, are easily opened and are tightly sealed when filled, to keep out dirt and to prevent tampering.

Table basketball, a game devised by a student at the Kansas agricultural college, has appeared in the form of a simple outfit that will amuse the players as well as spectators, and also test the skill. It consists of a metal box, the top of which is a cardboard field, depressed in the center to permit the ball to roll into any one of a number of holes along this part of the field.

Designed to eliminate the faults most frequently found in ordinary compasses, a new instrument is made in the form of beam compasses, but small and light enough to be used with one hand. It is claimed that the point of these compasses will not slip and tear the paper.

Greater safety in driving economy in gasoline, and convenience are some of the advantages claimed for an accelerator-control throttle attached to the gear-shift lever. It permits shifting from one speed to another without removing the foot from the brake pedal, prevents killing the motor and provides the "extra arm" so often needed while driving in crowded traffic.

Two Brooklyn men traded wives and now each thinks the other is a swindler.

EXPERT URGES CHURCHES TO ABOLISH SERMONS

The revolutionary suggestion to the American churches that they abolish the old-fashioned sermon, and substitute on Sunday a "canned sermon" prepared by professional sermon writers, is made by Frederick L. Collins, who has been engaged for two years in a survey of the present-day church situation.

Mr. Collins declares that the average sermon is "pitiful" and unfit to serve the Christian cause. He declares that the very word "sermon" has become a synonym for dullness and the word "preach" a synonym for tediousness.

"The old-fashioned expounding of the Bible is about as popular as the high wheeled bicycle," says Mr. Collins. "The passages in the Bible that most influence men need precious little elucidating. They are the simplest written and the plainest-meaning sentences in all literature. The average minister doesn't get very far when he tries to improve on them."

Mr. Collins shows that there are 216,000 sermons preached in the United States every Sunday morning, or about twenty million a year, counting the afternoon and evening efforts. "Obviously there aren't 216,000 people in the United States fit to preach sermons," says Mr. Collins, "and the result is an overwhelming number of poor sermons."

The remedy suggested to the churches is as follows:

"That the average minister be relieved of the necessity of sermon writing."

"That the task be assigned to men and women who are conspicuously able to perform it."

"That each denomination solicit and pay for an annual supply of the finest sermons that can possibly be written."

"That the number selected be sufficiently large to permit a wide choice of subjects by the local pastor."

"That each minister select the kind of sermon that best meets the needs of his particular congregation and to deliver it on Sunday, either by reading it or by committing it to memory."

HINTS FOR MOTORISTS

When a balloon tire goes flat, it lets the car down so far that it is sometimes difficult to get the jack under it. In such a case, it helps to lay the inflated spare on the ground and run the flat up on it. This will raise the car high enough to permit the placing of the jack under it.

One of the worst habits some drivers have is riding with one foot resting lightly on the clutch pedal. The constant pressure is just enough to cause the plates to slip a little and excessive wear is the result.

It is surprising how many people continue to drive with wet brakes when it's so easy to dry them. Merely set the hand-throttle for a car speed of about twenty-five miles an hour and play the brakes lightly, on and off, as you run. In less than a minute they will be dry.

If you cannot carry on a conversation in comfort while driving, the chances are you are going to fast. Stop talking, or better, slow down.

Fifty Korean railroad laborers, feeling that they were being poorly paid and badly treated planned a very effective strike by all lying down with their necks on the rails to await an oncoming train. They were removed and arrested before the train reached them. Their ingenious scheme is not expected to be generally imitated in labor circles.

JUNE BRIDES

The month of marriages is here. Of course every month is a month of marriages, but June seems especially to abound with them. And there has always been an additional halo of romance over marriages that take place in June.

That is as it should be, for June is in itself beautiful and romantic, the glorious month of roses.

What better time to wed than when the fields are abloom with flowers, and the sweet song of birds in the air?

What better month for honeymooners?

Young man—young lady—if you are engaged or expect to be shortly—why not seize the opportunity to make a June wedding of it?

And while we are on the subject, let's not forget the brides of former years. Remember those who married in June of the past with tokens of your affection—perhaps, indeed, your mother too was a "June Bride."

in a run-down condition. My complexion and eyes had turned an unhealthy yellow. Everything I ate gave me trouble, instead of strength. Constipation kept my system from throwing off poisons. I was almost hopeless.

"Sargon did more for me in less than a month than all the medicines I used in five years. My friends say they have never seen such a remarkable change in anyone in such a short time. Every trace of indigestion is gone. My food gives me the proper nourishment and I have gained five pounds. I feel good all the time.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcome constipation in a natural way. They not only have rid me of constipation but have driven the malarial poisons out of my body.

"I take the greatest pleasure in telling all my friends about it."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. E. Prudhomme, 616 West Woodlawn, San Antonio, Texas, who is highly regarded by her friends and neighbors.

RECIPES FOR FOODS THAT ARE DIFFERENT

Every housewife has a number of recipes for dishes that are favorites with her family. Sometimes these recipes are decidedly different. They are, nevertheless, delicious. Farm women of Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas often exchange these recipes through the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman. Here are three that were taken from a recent issue:

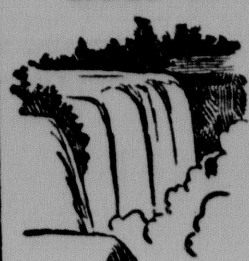

Baked Chicken With Rice—Cut up a young but full-grown chicken and put in a gallon crock or an enamel pan. Cover well with hot water and bake one hour. Then add ½ cupful of rice which has been soaking in cold water while the chicken was baking. Add salt and pepper to taste and cook another hour, covered. Be sure there is plenty of water so that rice does not get dry. Ten minutes before serving add 1 cupful of thin cream and leave uncovered to cook these 10 minutes.

Peanut Butter Chops—Cut as many slices of bread as you wish chops, remove the crusts and spread on both sides with peanut butter. Rye bread is best but any kind may be used. Beat 2 eggs add ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika and ¼ cupful of milk. Have ready some cracker crumbs and a well-greased baking pan. Dip the bread into the milk and egg mixture, then in the cracker crumbs, lay in the pan and bake in a hot oven until a golden brown.

Stuffed Bacon Slices—Make a moist bread dressing, seasoning with pepper, but using very little salt. Either sage or onion may be used to season the dressing. Slice bacon and place a heaping teaspoonful of the dressing on each slice. Roll and fasten with a toothpick. Place the stuffed pieces in a baking pan in a very hot oven, or fry on top of the stove, turning often so the bacon will cook evenly on all sides.

CONSUMER NOT TO LOSE IF FARM PROFITS RISE

That the consumer will not be obliged to pay more for foodstuffs grown on farms, if farm relief brings greater profit to the farmer is indicated by Tom Delohery, in a series of studies of the marketing situation.

The investigation, carried on in the East, West, Middle West and Pacific Coast countries, disclosed the widest discrepancies between the price received by the grower and the price paid by the consumer.

"I did not find any organized effort to cheat the grower," says Delohery. "Increasing competition, government regulation and an increased farm knowledge of markets have just about eliminated the shady practices of the past. Nor did I find any special evidence as to miraculous profits. But I did find, at a great many points, indications that the distributive system is becoming more and more complex and wasteful, more and more riddled with duplication and incompetence, more unwieldy, more unaccountable every year."

Among the startling discrepancies in retail and growers' prices, the investigator found Jersey strawberries for which the gardner received 16 cents a quart, retailing for 60 cents in New York, less than 25 miles away. California table grapes brought the grower $26.10 a ton and sold for $230 a ton in New York. Tomatoes sold by truck farmers for 5 cents a pound just out of Chicago, cost 20 cents a pound at a neighborhood market. The writer cites numerous other cases and goes thoroughly into conditions existing in the present system of marketing.

An exchange tells of a scientist who was to lecture on "The Infinitude of Space," but kept his audience waiting half an hour because he couldn't find a place to park his car.

Quilt Made From Flour Bags Given to the First Lady

Mrs. Hoover has just been presented with an old fashioned quilt made by Mrs. J. L. Murray, of Bloomington, Ill., a famous quilter in her state. This inaugural gift was made out of sixteen flour bags, six of which she died a Yale blue.

Five years ago Mrs. Hoover saw and admired an old handmade quilt, a family heirloom which had been made nearly a century ago by two New England sisters for the wedding outfit of one of them. Mrs. Hoover liked it so much that she had it duplicated as a wedding gift for her son, Herbert, Jr.

When Mr. Hoover was elected president, Mrs. Murray, whose own grandmother had been a quilter of note in her day, looked up the pattern of the quilt and determined to make a copy of it as a gift of welcome to the new first lady of the land on her entrance to the White House.

The quilt is a striking one made of blue and white blocks in the "double Irish chain" pattern. It measures 7 by 8 feet, and the intricate quilting in scroll design Mrs. Murray did by hand, using more than 1100 yards of thread. Since some of the White House bedrooms are furnished in Colonial fashion, the quilt is in keeping with its surroundings.

Mrs. Murray selected flour sacks for the "Hoover Quilt" because for over ten years she has been teaching Illinois farm women how to make use of these bags.

An Atlanta marble works advertisement is headed thus: "You know a lot of people who need monuments." Probably no one really needs them, but some communities will be better off when a few citizens become eligible for monuments.

Nor did I find any special evidence as to miraculous profits. But I did find, at a great many points, indications that the distributive system is becoming more and more complex and wasteful, more and more riddled with duplication and incompetence, more unwieldy, more unaccountable every year."

Among the startling discrepancies in retail and growers' prices, the investigator found Jersey strawberries for which the grower received 16 cents a quart, retailing for 60 cents in New York, less than 25 miles away. California table grapes brought the grower $26.10 a ton and sold for $230 a ton in New York. Tomatoes sold by truck farmers for 5 cents a pound just out of Chicago, cost 20 cents a pound at a neighborhood market. The writer cites numerous other cases and goes thoroughly into conditions existing in the present system of marketing.

An exchange tells of a scientist who was to lecture on "The Infinitude of Space," but kept his audience waiting half an hour because he couldn't find a place to park his car.

Quilt Made From Flour Bags Given to the First Lady

Mrs. Hoover has just been presented with an old fashioned quilt made by Mrs. J. L. Murray, of Bloomington, Ill., a famous quilter in her state. This inaugural gift was made out of sixteen flour bags, six of which she died a Yale blue.

Five years ago Mrs. Hoover saw and admired an old handmade quilt, a family heirloom which had been made nearly a century ago by two New England sisters for the wedding outfit of one of them. Mrs. Hoover liked it so much that she had it duplicated as a wedding gift for her son, Herbert, Jr.

When Mr. Hoover was elected president, Mrs. Murray, whose own grandmother had been a quilter of note in her day, looked up the pattern of the quilt and determined to make a copy of it as a gift of welcome to the new first lady of the land on her entrance to the White House.

The quilt is a striking one made of blue and white blocks in the "double Irish chain" pattern. It measures 7 by 8 feet, and the intricate quilting in scroll design Mrs. Murray did by hand, using more than 1100 yards of thread. Since some of the White House bedrooms are furnished in Colonial fashion, the quilt is in keeping with its surroundings.

Mrs. Murray selected flour sacks for the "Hoover Quilt" because for over ten years she has been teaching Illinois farm women how to make use of these bags.

An Atlanta marble works advertisement is headed thus: "You know a lot of people who need monuments." Probably no one really needs them, but some communities will be better off when a few citizens become eligible for monuments.

Don't be too nasty in making your mark in the world. You can't always rub it out.

WHEN LOCAL MERCHANTS DON'T— THEN MAIL ORDER HOUSES DO

Recently in a radio talk given by John H. Casey of the University of Oklahoma school of Journalism, quoting the statement of the advertising manager of the country's greatest mail order business, who says:

"We have a bureau whose duty is to read each week the country newspapers from all over the land. This bureau looks over these newspapers, and when we find a town where the merchants are not advertising in the local papers, we immediately flood that territory with our literature. It always brings results far in excess of the same efforts put forth in territory where the local merchants use their local papers."

Getting married is like buying a second-hand car. The first cost is negligible but the upkeep is fierce.

Buy 100 Miles Of Cars Weekly

Motor car purchasers are adding to the highway burden at the rate of 100 miles of new automobiles weekly. At the end of 1929 the combined length of trucks, busses and passenger cars will be approximately 65,000 miles.

In addition to the replacement of about 2,000,000 worn out cars, automobile manufacturers expect to replace new cars in the garages of another 2,000,000 owners.

Records kept by state highway officials, park officials, health reports and countless tourist camps reveal that motor car usage is increasing at an even faster rate than registration figures. This means that the highways are carrying a tremendous volume of traffic that as yet shows no sign of lessening its growth.

Last year 44,000,000 people spent more than three and a half billion dollars "seeing the country." Touring is only a small part of the highway story but it is indicative of the pleasure of the car. With busses of one company alone now carrying passengers over routes totaling 100,000 miles, and with bus line investments at about the half billion dollar mark, it is evident that commercial motor transportation is more than a mere rumor.

As for the matters of highways over which the nation's 100,000,000 or so rubber tires are running there are still no more than 80,000 miles of roads that can be rated as first class.

More money must be spent for permanent highway improvements, highway officials and authorities all over the country are pointing out. Better use can be found for funds now being spent for maintenance and construction of roads that cannot cope successfully with the tons of shifting traffic that hurtle over them.

In many instances those charged with road planning have failed to recognize that motor transportation is a permanent thing and that the highway should also be as permanent as possible, else this and succeeding generations will continue to pour cash into the sink hole of maintenance and periodical rebuilding.

An automobile mileage of 65,000 does not compare favorably with a first class road of 80,000.

Willie was dejectedly walking home from school and his woebegone appearance attracted the attention of a kindhearted old lady. "What is troubling you, my little man?" she asked.

"Dyspepsia and rheumatism," replied Willie.

"Why, that's absurd," remarked the old lady. "How can that be?" "Teacher kept me in after school because I couldn't spell them."

A Would-Be Lawyer (as he noticed a negro woman struck by a street car): "Come with me; you can get damages for this."

Negro lady (limping away from scene of accident): "Good, Lawd, man! Ah don't need no mo' damages; what Ah needs is repairs."

The McCormick-Deering No. 11 Harvester-Thresher has a cutting and threshing capacity of 26 to 40 acres a day with a 12-foot cut and from 35 to 50 acres a day with the 16-foot. Compare this with other methods!

NOW is the time to Order Your 1929 Model McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER!

During the 1928 harvest season, hundreds of grain growers were unable to secure McCormick-Deering Harvester-Threshers, due to the great demand. The combination of this stored-up demand and the rapidly advancing reputation of these machines bids fair to swamp us with orders for the 1929 season. To avoid disappointing our customers, we are ready now to take orders for harvest-time delivery. If you will telephone, or come to our store, we will see that you get one of the new harvester-thresher catalogs, and any information you may need.

Here Are a Few of the New Features You Get

Feed conveyor assures positive delivery of grain to threshers. 90 percent separation at cylinder. Well-known 4-section straw rack. Thorough cleaning shoe sieve. Two cleaning fans. Ample capacity elevators. Recleaner, fanning mill type.

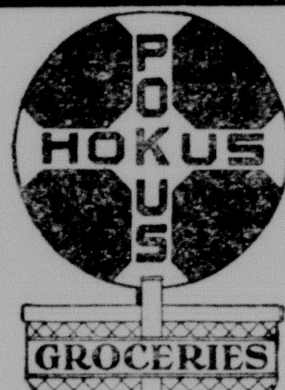

Revolving weed screen eliminates weed seeds. Choice of wagon loader or bagging attachment. 12 or 16-foot cut. Folding platform that facilitates transportation. Wide wheels. Self-aligning roller and ball bearings throughout.

Slip clutches that prevent breakage. High-grade sprockets and extra heavy roller chains on principal drives. Main wheel brake of ample size to hold machine on hills. Alemite-Zerk greasing system. Ball-bearing crankshaft auxiliary engine. Light draft.

The McCormick-Deering No. 11 Harvester-Thresher has a cutting and threshing capacity of 26 to 40 acres a day with a 12-foot cut and from 35 to 50 acres a day with the 16-foot. Compare this with other methods!

NOW is the time to Order Your 1929 Model McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER!

During the 1928 harvest season, hundreds of grain growers were unable to secure McCormick-Deering Harvester-Threshers, due to the great demand. The combination of this stored-up demand and the rapidly advancing reputation of these machines bids fair to swamp us with orders for the 1929 season. To avoid disappointing our customers, we are ready now to take orders for harvest-time delivery. If you will telephone, or come to our store, we will see that you get one of the new harvester-thresher catalogs, and any information you may need.

Here Are a Few of the New Features You Get

Feed conveyor assures positive delivery of grain to threshers. 90 percent separation at cylinder. Well-known 4-section straw rack. Thorough cleaning shoe sieve. Two cleaning fans. Ample capacity elevators. Recleaner, fanning mill type.

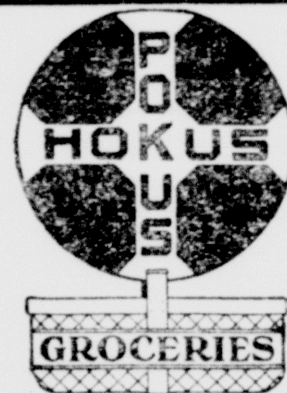

Revolving weed screen eliminates weed seeds. Choice of wagon loader or bagging attachment. 12 or 16-foot cut. Folding platform that facilitates transportation. Wide wheels. Self-aligning roller and ball bearings throughout.

Slip clutches that prevent breakage. High-grade sprockets and extra heavy roller chains on principal drives. Main wheel brake of ample size to hold machine on hills. Alemite-Zerk greasing system. Ball-bearing crankshaft auxiliary engine. Light draft.
